Chapter 25

Entrepreneur Education – Approach and Methodology

†Bushra Siddiq

ABSTRACT

Education is very important element to identify the entrepreneurial position of individuals. Proper training along with education will result in positive outcome improving entrepreneurship in the context associated with a developing countries like India by enlarging the pool of entrepreneurs. Entrepreneurship describes an individual's potential to put ideas into action. At higher education level, the goals of entrepreneurship knowledge is to develop entrepreneurial capacities & mindsets. Social construction is not a deterministic process; it's perpetuated by institutions and institutional forces but what is socially constructed can easily change their requirement for greater flexibility in program design, Worker's placements, change between full-time and part time research, business of intense classes, and accreditation of non-formal and informal learning all have a crucial role to play. This paper makes an attempt to clarify the evolution of entrepreneurship training in India. The need and importance of women entrepreneurs is also been discussed briefly. It also covers the value as well as role of training for women entrepreneurs. It further covers the difficulties with regard to the job of programs that are academic for disseminating these entrepreneurship training programs for women.
