REPORT

Program name : Webinar on Anthropology, understanding humans.
Date of activity : 03/03/2018
Venue : Online.
Organized by : Dept. Of Zoology.
Number of participants : 83.

Objective of the program

The genesis and development of human civilizations and cultures are the subjects of anthropology. People's learned behaviours, including their languages, belief systems, social structures, organizations, and material possessions, are referred to as culture. Through a range of methods, anthropologists investigate the traits of historical and present human populations. They achieve this by looking into and describing the historical lifestyles of various populations around the world.

Topics Covered:

- Our ancestors.
- What is anthropology.
- Subdisciplines of anthropology.
- Birth and evolution of languages.
- Religion.
- Origin of culture.
- Creating economies.
- Tribal wars.

A BRIEF REPORT OF THE SEMINAR ORGANIZED BY DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS ON 21ST DECEMBER 2018 ON THE TOPIC "PRICE ELASTICITY OF DEMAND: ITS RELEVANCE IN MICRO ECONOMICS".

I am very delighted to present a brief report of a seminar organized by department of economics on 21st december 2018 on the topic "price elasticity of demand: its relevance in micro economics".

The objective of the seminar:

- To analyze the relationship between the price elasticity of demand and total revenues.
- To understand how elasticity helps us identify how much a change in price will affect market behaviors.

The Head department of Economics Dr Neena Singh job have taken the initiative of organizing the seminar. Different Department of Anwarul uloom college have also extended their immense support.

According to the schedule , the programme started at 12:00 p.m. Mohammed Abu Bakar siddiq, Assistant Professor, Arabic Department, opened the session with a recital of the qhirath. Prof. Ahmed Baig, Director of the Anwarullom Group of Institutions, lit the customary lamp by his speech to start the programme.

The resource person, Dr. Etikala Prushotam who is working as an assistant professor in Nizam college Gunfoundry began his talk to the audience in a very attention-grabbing manner.

In his speech, he has discussed elasticity is important to pricing decisions because it helps us understand whether raising prices or lowering prices will enable us to achieve our pricing objectives.

The programme came to an end by 2.30 pm with a vote of thanks delivered by Bushra siddiq, assistant professor department of economics.

OUTCOMES OF THE SEMINAR

- It helped the audience understand that if we make a small change in price, it will have a dramatic impact on the demand for the product or only a small impact or not?
- Price elasticity is the measure of the market's response to price changes.
- It also helped the audience understand whether a discount drive increased sales? Will a price increase cause us to lose many buyers or just a few?
- Everyone were able to answer these questions in order to select the most effective pricing strategy.

- To learn the design aspects of I/O and Memory Interfacing circuits.
- To study about communication and bus interfacing.
- To study the Architecture of 8051 microcontroller.
- To get exposed to RSIC processors and design ARM microcontroller based systems

Outcome of Seminar:

The participants are able to understand

The main reason for the development of microcontroller is to overcome the only drawback of the microprocessor. Even though microprocessors are powerful devices, they require external chips like RAM, ROM, Input / Output ports and other components in order to design a complete working system

PROGRAM REPORT

Program Name : Big data.
Date : 22-08-2017.
Target audience : All Computer Science, Computer Science & Engineering and B.Com (Computers) students.
Venue : Computer Lab
Organized By : CSE Dept.

OBJECTIVE

The chief aim of data analytics is to apply statistical analysis and technologies on data to find trends and solve problems. Data analytics has become increasingly important in the enterprise as a means for analyzing and shaping business processes and improving decision-making and business results.

- Focused and Targeted Promotions.
- Potential Risks Identification.
- Innovate.
- Complex Supplier Networks.

Outcome:

The participants are able to understand modern technologies and large Data tools, companies need skilled data professionals. These professionals will include data scientists, data analysts, and data engineers to work with the tools and make sense of giant data sets. This is often because data handling tools have evolved rapidly, but in most cases, the professionals haven't. Actionable steps got to be taken to bridge this gap.

A Workshop
On
Effective Classroom Management

Kakatiya Vidya Niketan High School

June 7, 2018

The purpose of education is to produce not just good learners, but also good people

School was the longest vacation I ever had in my lifetime!!

Then life happened and I never got a vacation again...

Ability to establish, maintain and restore the classroom as an effective environment for teaching and learning (basic aim) leads to general effectiveness as a teacher

Variety of skills and techniques that teachers use to keep:

1. Students organized
2. Orderly
3. Focused
4. Attentive
5. On task

All this to be academically productive during a class
We can avoid /stop disorder and wastage of time.

Objectives:

- Supports proper execution of curriculum
- Developing best teaching practices
- Students achieve given learning requirements and goals

Teaching and Learning Process

Four Aspects:

1. Teachers' Learning-Preparation, parallel /other reading &planning
2. Teaching – process, methods or techniques of teaching
3. Learning- response, queries comprehension
4. Students' Learning-follow up, practice & student results

1. Teachers' Learning: Preparation, parallel /other reading &planning

Restorative practices: By Emily Eilers

Caring, Empathy, Kindness and Being Supportive is the key to success and effective de-escalation

2. Teaching: process, methods or techniques of teaching

Activity:

What development have you seen in yourself in these years?

What steps do you take to prepare for the lesson?

Teaching techniques, Reading, preparation, visual aids & lesson plan

a) Use Humor and make your teaching light hearted

This is a sure way to get your students hooked to the essential content

b) Use graphs, PPTs, Videos, Audio-Visual aids, pictures and Que cards to enhance the quality of teaching.

c) Single out the black sheep. Tell such students to demonstrate their intelligence in other ways

3. Learning: response, queries and comprehension(don't be complacent-satisfied if learning doesn't take place)

4. Students' Learning: follow up, practice & students' results

Group Discussion on challenges faced by teachers in classroom management

A Workshop
On
Classroom Communication & Time Management
Kakatiya Vidya Niketan High School

June 8, 2018

Classroom Communication

For smooth execution of teaching and learning process, there is a need for clear, concise and meaningful classroom communication.

It exists in three categories: Verbal, Nonverbal and written.

Students must be taught to communicate respectfully, especially in the classroom.

20% teacher and 80% student Communication helps students develop their speaking skills

CLIL (Content Language Integrated Learning)

Good Communication Practices:

- Use proper tone that is honest, choosing words that are suitable to the situation and non-inflammatory
- When listening, make eye contact and focus on the speaker
- Speak in turns, never interrupt the speaker. Teachers who model respect with their students have respectful classrooms because students learn how to communicate respectfully.

Teachers' Role

1) Repeat your messages in a different way

Effective communication requires using different techniques in communication. Consider using visual tools like a chart or a graph to help students remember. In lecture method, offer or show hand-outs that outline the points. Give the students something to do that reflects your idea. Repeat the information twice and give something for students to look at, hold, or do that will reinforce your message.

2) Check for Understanding

A teacher should always check for understanding. Students can write down one sentence that summarizes what they think the lesson was about, or they can write a question they have about the lesson. A teacher should ask the student to repeat the main point.

3) Nonverbal Communication

Everyone communicates nonverbally through facial expressions and gestures. Effective communication in the classroom requires careful use of these nonverbal cues (signs). A disapproving stare can work wonders on a student who is off task. A bright smile for a student who is having a bad day means more than he will ever reveal. Gestures and animated facial expressions also give weight and enthusiasm to what a teacher has to say. Students who see a teacher actively engaged in what she is teaching will be much more engaged themselves.

Help Students communicate effectively

Activities:

1. Watching a Video clip or picture

Body Language

Eye Contact

Summarizing

Paraphrasing

Responding

2. Use technology.

There is a multitude of technological resources you can use for improving student communication skills. Mobile voice recording apps and vocaroo.com

3. Reinforce active listening.

Communication isn't just about speaking; it's also about listening. Teachers can help their students develop listening skills by reading a selection of text aloud, and then having the class discuss and reflect on the content.

Active listening also means listening to understand rather than reply. Encourage students to practice asking clarifying questions to understand the message.

4. Offer group presentations and assignments.

Team-building exercises can also help students sharpen both oral and written communication skills. Not only does it offer students the chance to work in small groups, thereby reducing some of the pressure, but it also gives them the opportunity to debate their opinions, take turns (Students follow etiquette of speech)

5. Ask open-ended questions.

Because they require more than a one- or two-word response, open-ended questions are vital for inspiring discussion and demonstrating that there are multiple ways to perceive and answer a question. "what did you like best about the song?" rather than simply "did you like the song?"

6. Use tasks and activities that foster critical thinking.

Another task-based method for improving student communication skills is through critical thinking exercises. These can be done verbally or through written assignments that give students the chance to answer questions creatively using their own words and expressions.

7. Find teachable moments.

Whatever the age group you are working with, maximize on the everyday happenings in the classroom environment. Allow the class to ask clarifying questions.
