A Week Long FDP on Application of Biotechnology

Faculty development program (FDP) help in up-gradation of knowledge. The main idea of FDP is to up skill and keep the pace with changing demands of industries. FDPs have been considered as a standalone educational method in fostering knowledge and professional skills of the faculty.

The Department of Biotechnology has arranged a week long faculty development programme from 24th August 2022 – 30th August 2022.

DAY 1

The speaker for the first day was Mr. Habeebullah. A faculty in Computer Science Dept of Anwarul Uloom College. He is an experienced faculty with almost 10yrs of experience.

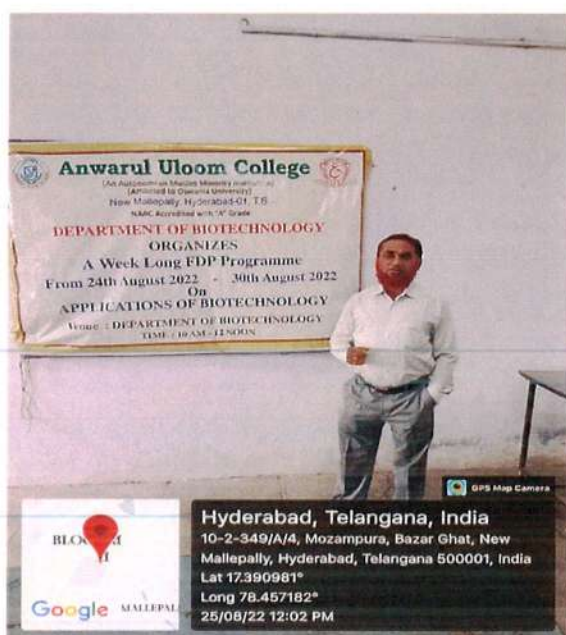

He explained the role of computers associated with Biotechnology. He explained about Bioinformatics. What is Bioinformatics & what is the role of Bioinformatics. He spoke about Database & the different Gene banks which preserve the data base.

Day-2

The speaker of second day was D. Shahjahan he is a Master in chemistry and pursuing his PhD from JNTU Hyderabad. He has many publication to his credit right from preparing the student from NEET To helping the TG student in their project work he does everything he has attended many conferences and seminars the topic which he spoke was about the biochemical changes taking place in the cells and which were responsible for Heredity diseases.

He spoke about the genetic engineering process which can help to cure the genetic disease. He also said about the different biochemical and hormonal disorders and which can be treated using the biotechnological process

Day 3

The speaker for the third day was Dr. Asim Mohiuddin who is the Alumini of this college. After completing his B.Sc, he did his M.Sc. in Germany & then PhD from GITAM University Vishakhapatnam. He is Senior Research Associate in school of Life Sciences, Centre for Biotechnology & Bioinformatics, Jawaharlal Nehru Institute of Advance Research. He has attended various International & National conferences & seminars & published papers in National International Journals. Presently he is also the Director of Biomarkers Research where he guides many M.sc students in their project work.

He spoke about the transcriptional regulation of Cytokines in their biological functions on various diseases. He also spoke about the cell division & programmed cell death.

DAY 4

The speaker for the fourth day was Dr.Syed Safiullah Ghorī – Professor & Research coordinator in Anwarul Uloom college of Pharmacy. He has an experience of more than 15yrs in teaching. He has completed his B.Pharmacy & M.Pharmacy from JNTU Hyd & PhD from Himalayan University Arunachal Pradesh. He has attended many National & International conferences & Seminars. He has published 42 papers in various National & International journals & presented 10 papers.

He spoke about the applications of Biotechnology in the field of medicine. The importance of Biotechnology in diagnosis of different diseases. During the pandemic period the tools like PCR & Gene editing were used to identify Corona & Omicron Virus

He also spoke about the applications of Biotech which can be used in near future.

Day 5

The speaker for fifth day was doctor salahuddin HO D mathematics Anwarul Uloom College. He is a very senior faculty member an expert in statistics he has published papers in National and international journals. He has attended many conferences and seminars. Has guided many students during his vast year of teaching.

He explained about the use of statistics in biotechnology, t test, z test etc and their applications in the field of biotechnology.

Day 6

The speaker of four day was Dr. Khadija al khadir is senior faculty Mumtaz College In the department of microbiology. She is pursuing her PhD from rayalseema university.He has published many papers and attend conferences and seminars she also guide the students for their MSC projects.

She gave the brief idea about genetic engineering and gene manipulation she explained about the use of genetic engineering not only in treating genetic disorders but also its use in growing genetic engineered plans and the use in microbial gene transfer also.

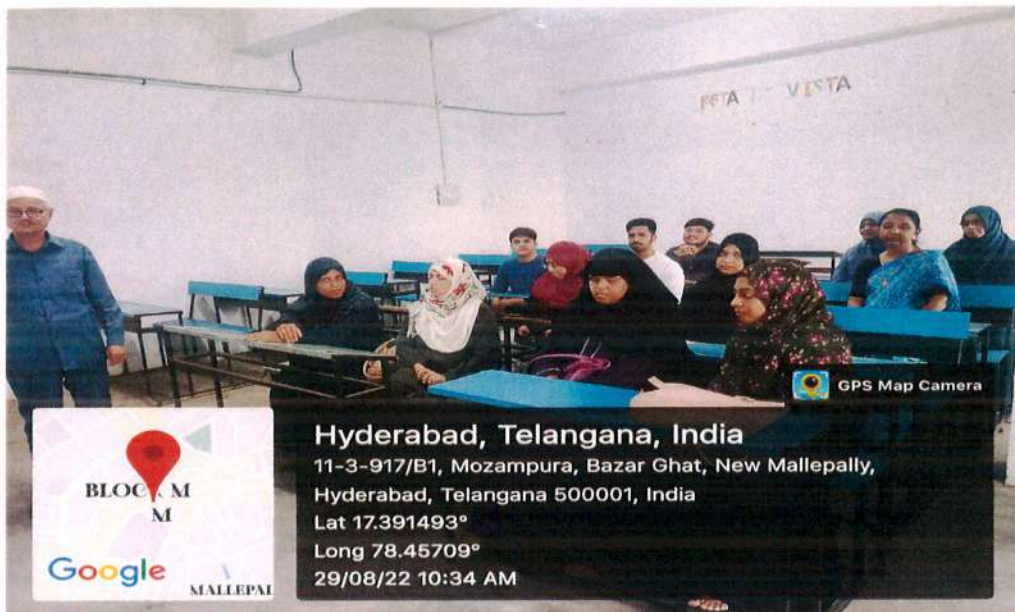

She explained the use of genetically modified Organism in industries to enhance the quality and quantity of the industrial product she also explained that using genetically modified organisms the time period of production can be enhanced.

FEED BACK :

Faculty members from different Departments participated in the FDP. As Biotechnology is an applied science, it has its roots in basic sciences & applications in all walks of life. So understanding the concept was easy & all the participated members felt that this was an informative & knowledge giving programme.

Output of Faculty Development in Applications of Biotechnology

- Participants got depth understanding about how Biotechnology plays a vital role not only in scientific world but also in our day to day life.
- They also learnt about the applications of Biotechnology in different areas like industries, medicine, agriculture research etc.
- They understood the importance of research and its implication in decision making process.
- They also gained a better understanding on how to design a valid research project outlining the major applications of Biotechnology.
- They have also learnt to design a reliable and valid questionnaire for collection of data that is required in the field of Biotechnology.
- Participants also learnt the usage of descriptive and predictive statistical tools that can help one in exploring data related to Biotechnology.
- Participants were also familiarized with various sources that stores a proper biotechnology related data.
- Participants were also benefitted with necessary knowledge and skills to undertake a piece of research work in any discipline of Biotechnology.
- No of Participants in this FDP were more than 30.

Date: 02-07-2022

The Department of Biotechnology is organizing a five days "Faculty Development Programme" on "Frontiers of Biotechnology" from 11th July, 2022 to 15th July 2022 from 10 :00 AM- 12 Noon in the Department. The aim of this FDP is to introduce the faculty member with applications of different aspects in Biotechnology. This FDP serve as a platform for teaching professionals to interact with the experts from teaching fraternity and Industry professionals.

Summary of FDP

The department of Biotechnology has organized a five day Faculty Development Program from 11th July. To 15th July, 2022. Every day different Guest Speakers were invited on various topics related to Biotechnology from Colleges and Industry.

Faculty members of different departments attended the FDP and gave positive feedback, they were of the opinion that the FDP was very informative and helped to upgrade their knowledge about the subject.

The Guest Speakers were as follows:

1. Mrs. Saleah afreen,
Asst Prof. Koti women's college, Hyderabad
2. Mr. Minallah alvi,
Vice principle And HOD microbiology Mumtaz College
3. Mrs. Nazia mohammedi,

R E P O R T ON F D P

Day 1

The speaker for day 1 was Mrs. Saleha Afreen a senior faculty in koti women's college; she is pursuing her PhD in biotechnology and having experience of almost a decade. She had attended number of conferences, seminars and has published a number of papers.

She spoke on rDNA Technology, she said the basically rDNA technology or as it is also Called as genetic engineering is the manipulation of genes to archive the desired goal, she explained about different experiments done by scientist and said that rDNA Technology or modern biotechnology enhance all the genetic manipulation. She said that biotechnology is an in disciplinary present with multidisiplinary applications. She explained the process of genetic engineering in detail as how they Undesired genes are removed and in place of that the desired genes are introduced. She also gave an idea about the aspects of biotechnology as it is helping in almost all walks of life including the manipulation of genes in microorganisms also.

Day 2

That speaker for second day was Mr. Minallah alvi, the Vice principle and HOD Microbiology mumtaz college. He is having an experience of almost 15 years and is also pursuing his PhD in microbiology. He is a knowledgeable person who spoke on different microbial techniques.

He spoke about the use of microorganisms which are used in the production of food and beverage. He said that fermentation is a biological process that occurs in the absence of oxygen he explained about the bioprocess technology which is preferred by the scientists for industrial use of higher plants and animal cell. He also explained the role of microorganisms in different industrial products

The Speaker for 3rd day was Mrs. Nazia Mohammadi HOD nutrition, Anwarul Uloom College. She is pursuing her PhD in nutrition and is an experienced faculty member she spoke on food Deterioration and the control measures of adulteration. She said that food subject to physical, chemical and biological Deterioration meat, fish and poultry can become incredible within a day, similarly some fruits and leafy vegetables, raw milk etc also get spoiled on same day

She said that slower rates of detritions occur with food that are low in moisture high in sugar salt or acid or modified in some other waste rapid spoiling of food is significant in less develop area and in most high advanced and organizes society.

She said that major factors effecting food detritions include

- a) Growth and activities of organisms
- b) Enzyme activity
- c) Infestation by insects and rodents
- d) Gain or loss of moisture
- e) Reaction with oxygen, light, physical etc

Day 4

The speaker for 4th day was Ms Nishat khatun a senior faculty of Microbiology in Siddhartha College, she is having experience of more than two decades in leading the students of Microbiology.

She explained the importance of microorganisms in various industrial productions. She said that there are millions of organisms out of which only 1% has been studied, she said that soil is the best source for isolation of microorganism. She also explained various methods which can be used for isolation of organisms she said that wild strains of microorganisms produce low quantities of commercially important metabolites, through the yield can be increased by optimizing the temperature the ability of metabolic formation is genetically determines so genetic improvement has to be made and new strains developed for substantial increase in production formation in a cost effective manner. She explained that several modifications have to be done to finally produce high yielding strains true genetic manipulations, it has been possible to develop strains for the production of modified or new metabolites which are of commercial value.

Day 5

The speaker of 5th day was Dr Akhtar Ali Siddiqui Professor MAANU Hyd. He is a PhD in zoology and is having experience of more than three decades. An eminent scientist who is having a vast number of publications to his Credit. He has also guided many students for their PHD

He spoke on the topic of production of transgenic animals. He said that transgenic is a phenomenon of introduction of exogenous DNA into the genome to create and maintain a stable heritable character. The transgenes are introduced in the animal and the animals are genetically engineered with a new heritable character. He said they had transgenesis is important for improving the quality and quantity of milk, meat, eggs and wool production.

He explained about the transgenic mice with the human immune system which are referred as human mice. He said that the mice take two weeks after the transplant for the mice to display the human immune system. He said that human mice being a close animal model for human immune system is a born for immunologist specialty working on AIDS.

The botany department organized a week's FDP on interdisciplinary research for human welfare and prospects of interdisciplinary research from the 23rd to the 30th August. The interdisciplinary research involves combination of 2 or more academic disciplines into one activity this also includes transdisciplinary research where investigators are from different disciplines working jointly to create a holistic approach to the research work.

Outcomes of the program

- Staff Members were enthusiastic to know about the importance of Interdisciplinary Research.
- They learnt about the Applications of Interdisciplinary Research and its Role played in creating new Innovations.
- The FDPs have brought increased self-efficiency and teaching competency among those who were trained.
- FDPs also brought tangible professionalization of postgraduate medical education.
- The challenges are the lack of a medical education centre to sustain the gains made through the past FDPs.

RESEARCH IN LIFE SCIENCES

Scientific research is critical to help us navigate our ever-changing world. Without it, we would have to rely on people's opinions, our intuitions and luck. Systematic scientific research offers us an objective understanding because scientific knowledge is grounded in objective, tangible evidence.

TOPICS FOCUSED!!!

- ✓ Day 1: Introduction to importance of Research in Life Sciences
- ✓ Day 2: Current Research in Life Sciences
- ✓ Day 3: Research Proposal Writing
- ✓ Day 4: Importance and Implementation of Statistical tool in Research
- ✓ Day 5: Implementation of Research Methodology in Wet lab
- ✓ Day 6: Technology transfer from lab to industries

DAY - 1

TOPIC : Recent Trends in Insurance Sector

Dr. Mohammed Abdul Razzak, Principal Anwarul Uloom Degree College, inaugurated the Week long Faculty Development program.

Prof. M. Zaheeruddin, University of Tech. & Applied Sciences, Shinas, Sultanate of Oman starts Day-1 lecture on Topic "New Models, Personalized Products".

He defined The digital economy will make usage-based, on-demand and 'all-in-one' insurance lifestyle products more relevant. Customers will prefer personalized insurance covers instead of the one-size-fits-all products currently available.

The speaker enlighten Flexible coverage options, micro insurance and peer-to-peer insurance will become viable options in the long run. Reinsurers will provide risk capital directly to digital brands, and regulatory frameworks will accommodate shorter value chains

He enlightens the faculty member that with Lifestyle apps will re-imagine the insurer-insured relationships. Application Programming Interfaces (APIs) will enable the creation of insights-driven offerings as they integrate data from multiple sources. Deeper understanding of customer behaviors will lead to more accurate risk assessments, personalized premiums and value on a sustainable basis for better customer experience and brand loyalty, plus reduced false claims.

He concluded, with a quote from a research that, more than 80% of premiums collected by insurers is lost to distribution costs

DAY - 2

TOPIC : AI & Automation for Faster Claims

Prof. Osman Bin Salam, Principal, AUCBM, conducted the Day-2 Faculty Development Program. His topic was "AI & Automation for Faster Claims"

He Start the Session with brief introduction Robotic Process Automation (RPA) and AI will occupy center stage in insurance, driven by newer data channels, better data processing capabilities and advancements in AI algorithms. For example, InsurTech company Lemonade's business model deploys AI and behavioral economics as its core elements. While AI eliminates brokers and paperwork, its behavioral economics capabilities minimize fraud - leading to reduced time, effort and costs.

He further explain that the Bots will become mainstream in both the front and back-office to automate policy servicing and claims management for faster and more personalized customer service. For example, a leading U.S. auto insurer's virtual assistant answers customer queries on policies and payments. Lemonade's claims bot Jim assesses and pays out property claims in just three seconds. Automated insurance agent SPIXII interacts with customers through a mobile app and other messenger platforms to help in the purchase of the right policies.

He enlighten the audience by explaining that AI and automation will profoundly impact and improve business outcomes in customer experience, cost optimization, operational efficiencies, market competitiveness and newer business models.

DAY-3

TOPIC : Advances Analysis & Proactiveness

Dr. Aseem Khan of Anwarul Uloom the Day-3 Faculty Development Program. His topic was "Advances Analysis & Proactiveness".

He enlighten with Premiums will become highly personalized, enabled by new sources of tech-enabled data such as Internet of Things, mobile-enabled InsurTech apps and wearable's. With the connected devices market poised to grow strongly in the next five years, Property and Casualty (P&C) insurers will be able to extract real-time and accurate data on the loss exposure of individual consumers. This will help them proactively respond with timely and highly personalized interventions.

He has given an example of Panasonic A Europe-based insurance company's partnership with Panasonic. Panasonic's sensors provide mobile alerts to both the insurer and its customers for quick and informed mitigation of issues.

Additionally, insights will be built through data set relationships to create deeper granularity in individual risk profiles and protect insurers from emerging risk exposures. For example, a U.K.-based insurance company leverages predictive analytics to model complex customer behavior, achieve enhanced pricing accuracy and significantly reduce decision time. A U.S. insurer deploys a telematics device to provide drivers real-time feedback to encourage safe-driving. This has helped customers save up to 40 percent on insurance premiums.

Prof. Mohd. Ibrahim Uddin, Vice-Principal,
AUCBM, Hyderabad.

The speaker started InsurTech firms have been showing significant growth in the areas of auto, home ownership and cyber insurance. Such strong growth will stimulate traditional insurers to either acquire technology capabilities or partner with InsurTech companies. With an increasing demand for innovative products and services from millennial, such collaboration will become a critical imperative.

Overall, it will be a win-win situation — traditional insurers will benefit from faster results in establishing a tech culture and Insur Tech companies will get access to larger customer bases, funding and domain expertise. It will give rise to newer models and revenue streams for higher profitability and reduced operational costs. Customer experiences will be enhanced with value-added offerings.

He concluded with the session with a request to upgrade the knowledge of Insurance.

DAY-5

TOPIC : Mainstreaming Blockchain

Prof. Najeeb Uddin, Principal, Limra Degree College Hyderabad

He, began his session with Blockchain and its importance. The need for huge volumes of customer data to be processed in real time by different insurance functions calls for easy and secure transfer of data across organizations and their diverse stakeholders.

He explained that Blockchain technology provides the advantage of secure data management across multiple interfaces and stakeholders without loss of integrity. From identity management and underwriting to claims processing, fraud management and reliable data availability, the technology offers reduced operational costs. Decentralized Autonomous Organizations (DAOs) and smart contracts are additional benefits that blockchain can offer in policy management.

He also told that more than 38 insurance and reinsurance companies have embarked on an initiative called the B3i to explore blockchain applications in insurance. The beta version of a blockchain-based insurance solution is expected to be deployed in 2018.

He conclude that the above trends indicate that new value worth billions of dollars can be created for the insurance industry. The key is to understand how and when to tap into this potential leveraging existing and new technologies.

DAY - 2

TOPIC : Small Finance Banks

Date: 17th August, 2022

Resource Person: Dr. Aseem Khan, Associate Professor, Anwarul Uloom College

Dr. Aseem Khan elaborately discussed the need for small finance banks. He said over five years the branch spread of SFBs has increased to 5107 branches across the country with a CAGR of 87.30%.

Objectives:

- To study the regional spread which were initially in the favour of Southern and Northern region due to the presence and growth of the two large SFBs, namely, Equitas SFB and Capital SFB, in their region of origin as MFI and LAB, respectively.
- By the end of 2020-21, the spread has become more balanced due to the emergence of new SFBs and their spread across various regions of the country.

Outcome:

- The faculty came to know that the branches have better spread in semi-urban and rural areas by the year 2020- 21.
- Small finance banks offer higher interest rates than their larger peers. Interest rates on savings accounts, recurring deposits (RDs) and fixed deposits (FDs) of small finance banks are as high as 9 per cent for regular citizens and 9.5 per cent for seniors.

DAY - 3

TOPIC : Payments Bank

Day 3; Date: 18th August, 2022

Resource Person: Dr. Mehdi Bano, Associate Professor, Anwarul Uloom College

Dr. Mehdi Bano discussed the topic of Payments Bank in detail by explaining the origination of Payments banks in India as envisioned by the "Committee on Comprehensive Financial Services for Small Businesses and Low Income Households." This committee was formed by the Reserve Bank of India in the year 2013 and headed by Nachiket Mor. The objective of the panel was to study various aspects of financial inclusion in India. The panel submitted its final report on 7 January 2014.

Objectives:

- To discuss the aims and objectives of the Payments Bank, the group of customers that it seeks to serve and the various services that it provides to its customers.
- There are currently seven active payment banks in India like Jio Payments Bank, Paytm Payments Bank and Airtel Payments Bank to name a few.

Outcome:

- There has been a meteoric rise in the user base of payments banks in the last two years.
- Since any banking services in India is not possible without the RBI's approval, this paper is also aimed at reviewing the validity of Payments Bank as per the law. It also discusses the guidelines of Reserve Bank of India regarding the payments bank.

DAY - 4

TOPIC : Mobile Banking

Date: 19th August, 2022

Topic: Mobile Banking

Resource Person: Mr. Fasi Ur Rahman,
Assistant Professor, JBIET

Mr. Fasi discussed various smart card payment schemes which are becoming popular. Even though certain systems are launched successfully and the piloting result also reveals that customer is satisfied with the new payment scheme, not getting much popularity because of the above mentioned challenges. But every one is agreeing unanimously that current system of payment need to be changed. It is oblivious that the current system has a lot of loop holes in terms of security.

Objectives:

- While looking forward a new system of payment and its adoption by the society also need very good initiative to train the public. In certain countries these system are restricted by law.
- Due to the high penetration of mobile devices and its capability for storage and processing reveals innovative opportunity for payment scheme.

Outcome:

- The faculty came to know that the benefits of mobile banking for users include time efficiency, the possibility to manage funds, transfer money, and detect frauds quickly. Also with the help of digital banking users have 24/7 access to their accounts (including the possibility to check balance) and reminders about bills payments, loans, etc.

DAY - 5

TOPIC : Blockchain Technology

Date: 21st August, 2022

Resource Person: Mr.Obaid Siddiqui, HoD,
Computer Science, Anwarul Uloom College

Dr. Ubaid Siddiqui , discuss in detail about Blockchain Technology and its revolution in today's world.

Objectives:

- The main hypothesis is that the blockchain establishes a system of creating a distributed consensus in the digital online world. This allows participating entities to know for certain that a digital event happened by creating an irrefutable record in a public ledger.
- It opens the door for developing a democratic open and scalable digital economy from a centralized one. There are tremendous opportunities in this disruptive technology and revolution in this space has just begun.

Outcomes:

- The discussion enlightened the participants about the enormous interest in BlockChain based business applications and hence numerous Start-ups working on them. The adoption definitely faces strong headwind as described before.
- The large Financial institutions like Visa, Mastercard, Banks, NASDAQ, etc., are investing in exploring application of current business models on BlockChain. In fact, some of them are searching for the new business models in the world of BlockChain. Some would like to stay ahead of the curve in terms of transformed regulatory environments of BlockChain. To conclude, we envision BlockChain to go through slow adoption due to the risks associated. Most of the Startups will fail with few winners. We should be seeing significant adoption in a decade or two.

DAY-2

TOPIC Digital Tools & Presentation Skills

Prof. Osman Bin Salam , Principal, AUCBM, Hyderabad , began his address with introduction to digital modern tools available for presenting financial reports in the 21st Century.

The formats and purposes of presentations can be very different, for example: oral (spoken), multimedia (using various media - visuals, audio, etc), PowerPoint presentations, short impromptu presentations, long-planned presentations, educational or training sessions, lectures, and simply giving a talk on a subject to a group on a voluntary basis for pleasure. Even speeches at weddings are types of presentations.

He put the emphasis on effective and persuasive uses of presentation software in the official financial reporting environment, including (but not limited to) PowerPoint, Keynote, Google Presentation, Prezi, Knovio, and beyond. Design elements will be highlighted to demonstrate best strategies for designing presentations for accessibility and design value.

The session was concluded with the demo on Canva a software and it delighted the faculty members to their fullest satisfaction.

TOPIC : A Guide to Publishing Research Paper

Dr. Shobha Rani, HoD Commerce, Anwarul Uloom Degree College started her address with giving complete format of articles to be published in a scopus journals.

She listed the steps for publishing the research paper. The following are the steps :

Perform Research Work: Have original research work of current interest. Scholars should focus on high-quality research to enable advancement in the field. An extensive literature review will be helpful in finding the current challenges in the field.

Prepare Manuscript : Identify a journal with aims & scope close to your research work. This is the time when the author requires to find all detail and policy of the journal including copyright, authorship, submission policy, and publication charges. After finding a suitable journal, format manuscript according to the author guideline of the targeted journal. While you are writing up your findings, come up with what you believe are unique hypotheses, base your work on robust data, and use an appropriate research methodology.

Submit Manuscript: Submit your manuscript online through the targeted journal's homepage and add complete detail in the online submission system. Do not submit the manuscript to more than one journal at the same time.

DAY-5

TOPIC : Paradigm shift to practical Commerce

Prof. Najeebuddin, Principal Limra Degree College, Hyderabad with vast teaching experience.

Prof. Najeeb, addressed the congregation that the rapid pace of innovations around the world in almost all fields of discipline has made every country necessary to implement paradigm shifts in their economy to grow larger and larger in size and to stay competitive in the world economy. Recognizing these paradigm shifts will help innovative business education leaderships to discover opportunities in a wide variety of fields and develop game-changing business models.

The current leading paradigms in education are being challenged by new approaches based on different beliefs and assumptions. New paradigms lead to new business models and production techniques, new forms of collaboration and cooperation, new forms of financing and ownership, and new forms of learning.

Paradigm shift in education necessitates on students to learn and develop skills in adjacent with global market with advanced technology, which in turn help students to sustain their carrier to build life after graduation. Additionally. The kind of things were once easy o teach are now easy to automate, digitize, creating the need to rethink the role of teachers in education.

DAY-1

Speaker: Dr. Prof Ravinder Kaur (Retd),
HOD, Public Administration, Osmania University.
Topic: Critical Thinking Skills for Academicians.

The speaker highlighted the concept of Critical thinking in research. Critical thinking is about using your ability to reason. It's about being active in your learning and questioning ideas, arguments and findings. In an academic argument ideas are organised into a line of reasoning. The writer aims to persuade the reader that their point of view is valid.

He also focused on what Critical thinking involves like asking questions, defining a problem, examining evidence, analysing assumptions and biases, avoiding emotional reasoning, avoiding oversimplification, considering other interpretations, and tolerating ambiguity.

Being objective is a fundamental part of critical thinking. That means analysing the problem without allowing personal bias, emotions or assumptions to influence how you think. A strong critical thinker will only analyse a problem based on the context and facts collected after conducting thorough and impartial research.

DAY-2

Speaker: Dr.Prof Aatma Ram (Retd),
Principal, Govt.Girls Degree College, Chintal Basti.
Topic: Leadership skills.

The speaker on day 2 called attention to Leadership skills in faculty. Leadership is a process whereby an individual is able to motivate others to internalize a collective vision and mobilize them toward attaining that vision. Effective leadership emotions, transforms and people's goals ambitions, even their identities, and replaces self-oriented behaviour with group-oriented behaviour.

He specifically explained about leadership psychology. There are two primary theories the trait theory and the behavioural theory. The behavioural theories of leadership assume that specific behavioural patterns of leaders can be acquired through learning and experience. While the trait theory concentrates on "what the leaders are", the behavioural theories concentrate on "what the leaders do".

There top 10 leadership skills include: Communication, Guidance, Motivation, Creativity, Positivity, Feedback, Inspiration, Teamwork, Responsibility and Delegating.

DAY-3

Speaker: Dr. Prof Afroz Alam,

HOD, Political Science, MANUU.

Topic: Writing and Publishing a Research Paper.

The speaker underlined the important points as to how to make an article interesting and easily understood without the reader having to read the whole article. He talked about certain points to remember while writing an article such as keeping it accurate and specific, and keep it as brief and concise as possible. Some journals (particularly in the medical fields) will ask you to structure the abstract in distinct, labelled sections, which makes it even more accessible.

He also discuss 7 steps to the successful publication of a research paper

1. Check whether your research is publication-ready
2. Choose an article type
3. Choose a journal
4. Construct your paper
5. Decide the order of authors
6. Check and double-check
7. Submit your paper

DAY-4

Speaker: Dr. Yasmin (Retd),

Associate Professor, Political Science, Osmania University.

Topic: Ethics in Research and Plagiarism.

Research ethics involves the application of fundamental ethical principles to research activities which include the design and implementation of research, respect towards society and others, the use of resources and research outputs, scientific misconduct and the regulation of research.

The speaker emphasized on the meaning of Plagiarism. It is presenting someone else's work or ideas as your own, with or without their consent, by incorporating it into your work without full acknowledgement. All published and unpublished material, whether in manuscript, printed or electronic form, is covered here.

DAY-5

Dr. Ch. Venkateshwarlu,

Assistant Professor, Political Science, Osmania University.

Topic: Writing Abstract and Review of Literature.

Literature review is a survey of scholarly sources (such as books, journal articles, and theses) related to a specific topic or research question. It is often written as part of a thesis, dissertation, or research paper, in order to situate your work in relation to existing knowledge.

The speaker stressed on the purpose of a literature review is to gain an understanding of the existing research and debates relevant to a particular topic or area of study, and to present that knowledge in the form of a written report. Conducting a literature review helps you build your knowledge in your field.

A literature review is a comprehensive summary of previous research on a topic. The literature review surveys scholarly articles, books, and other sources relevant to a particular area of research. The review should enumerate, describe, summarize, objectively evaluate and clarify this previous research.

DEPARTMENT OF COMPUTER SCIENCE

In collaboration with

DEPARTMENT OF COMPUTER SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

Has organized

Five Days National Faculty Development Programme on "Practical Approach to Data Science Using R Programming"

Objective: To get the thorough understanding of Data Science and to gain practical knowledge of R-Programming.

INTRODUCTION

Data science is an interdisciplinary field that uses scientific methods, processes, algorithms and systems to extract knowledge and insights from noisy, structured and unstructured data, and apply knowledge from data across a broad range of application domains.

- R is an open-source software. R is free and adaptable because it's an open-source software. R's open interfaces allow it to integrate with other applications and systems.
- R is a programming language. As a programming language, R provides objects, operators and functions that allow users to explore, model and visualize data.
- R is used for data analysis. R in data science is used to handle, store and analyze data. It can be used for data analysis and statistical modeling.
- R is an environment for statistical analysis. R has various statistical and graphical capabilities.

I am glad to submit a brief report on a brief report on five days faculty development program Organized by the department of economics from 16th august to 20th august 2022.

PROGRAM SCHEDULE:

The head department of Economics Ms Bushra siddiq have taken the initiative of organizing the 5 days Faculty Development Program.

According to the schedule , the programme started at 1:00 pm. Mohammed Abu Bakar siddiq, Assistant Professor, Arabic Department, opened the session with a recital of the qhirath. Prof. Ahmed Baig, Director of the Anwarullom Group of Institutions, lit the customary lamp by his speech to start the programme.

On first day of Faculty development program, Dr. Wajida Begum, a journalist and a subject matter expert from the department of urdu, has highlighted the connection between students' use of social media and their academic achievement and creativity. A mediating factor in the correlations between students' use of social media and their academic performance and creativity was also discovered to be intrinsic motivation.

Her speech had such an impact on the faculty that it was requested by various faculty members that her session be extended for an additional on two days.

The second resource person, Ms Arshiya sultana who is working as a visiting professor in shadan college, has begun his talk to the audience on the topic strategic management in new economic environment in a very attention-grabbing manner.

She has discussed the economically based theories in strategic management can be divided into two groups: (1) those that are original to the field of strategic management and are based on economic logic, and (2) those that started in the field of economics but have been applied and frequently developed in novel ways in the field of strategic management.

THE LUNCH BREAK LASTED BARELY 45 MINUTES EACH DAY.

The third resource person Dr Aseem khan has through light on the the professional ethics of teachers stating professional ethics is like a guide, which facilitates the teacher to provide quality education and inculcate good values among the learners. The professional ethics will enlighten the teachers that they have a major role in bringing desirable changes in the behaviour of the students.

The teachers were moved by Aseem Khan's talk on professional ethics. They realised that in addition to classroom instruction, children will learn through their impeccable behaviour.

Additionally, several students attended the programme. Certificate distribution took place for all participants on the final day of the programme. Assistant professor of economics Shereen Siddiqui offered a vote of thanks.

- After completing the FDP, professors are expected to exhibit professional ethics in their instruction and behaviour, which is crucial in today's workplace. Students observe and have learned from our behaviour of their teachers as well.
- The faculty has thoroughly understood the role is not just to become supreme and authoritarian in front of their students and colleagues. But then they have a wider and meaningful role to play. Teacher having the sense of professional ethics will treat their learners with love, care, affection and commitment. In addition to that, they would always ensure to make specific contribution from their angle. Therefore, this paper specially highlights the significance of professional ethics in teachers.
- The faculty came to understand deeply the use of social media as a medium to get new resources to support their lessons, activities to teach particular concepts, bulletin board ideas, information on new apps to do a follow up of certain topics as well as to network and know what is happening in schools all over the world.

DAY-1

DR.S.AMENA Assistant professor

Dept. of Genetics and Biotechnology university

College for women (A), koti, hyderabad

The FDP focussed on equipping the teaching fraternity with various strategies and web tools to bridge the gap between quality research and the teaching techniques that can disseminate knowledge to the young learners effectively.

DR.PRASUNA SOLOMON GORRE

Asst prof RBVRR Women's College

Narayanaguda, Hyderabad

Fdp focussed on how writing a quality research paper requires a substantial amount of research knowledge and efforts. However, several faculty members and research scholars are not able to publish quality research papers due to lack of necessary knowledge and skills. This workshop bridged this gap to an extent and provided hands-on learning experience to the participants so that they can utilize the knowledge gained through the workshop in writing and publishing quality papers.
