GRIEVANCES(2017-2022) SUMMARY

Muslim culture to have friendship with opposite sex but their psyche is flooded with free interaction as such they look forward for occasion to indulge, hiding then experiences from their parent's and parent figures, In this context as a counselor had to counsel number of students and staff. I made them realize that all in laws are not negative or against them and even if we find them so, it is better to overcome it with tolerance, respect, appreciation and positivity.

Girl students have complained about their mother in laws being highly critical and negative. They were advised to keep appreciating till their mother in laws stop being negative to them, Most of the students reported improvement in positive relationships. Few others found relationship remaining the same

Ten girls were guided to make the right decisions about marriage. They were counseled about important aspects as per which they should take a decision - like, religious practices value system, food habits, income of the spouse, role expectation. One student was counseled not to leave the family house before her marriage as she was facing problems due to the death of her mother. One girl had been counseled for her problem, solving conflict between mother and mother in law.

Some students have been counseled to resolve the problem of the husband being misled by the mother in law, advising the lady to support the husband whenever there is a conflict with mother. Most of the married lady students from graduation and under graduation had faced harassment by in laws for alleged love affairs and was duly advised her to introduce her husband to some of the staff members.

Girl students were counseled for career in the Middle east, the courses available in the college opened for foreign students and the opportunities available. Some of the boys had adjustment problem with their siblings and mother, They were caught in a conflict between friends and family members, few girls students help to establish tutorials and part time job in order to support their families, girls were counseled as to what subject to pursue after she shifts to USA to join her husband, this cell also counseled mothers who had approached the cell complaining that the son was rude with the family members as his company of friends had different value system compare to their family. A group of girls were counseled to resolve the conflicts between religious belief and work ethics of companies established in India, Few girls had approached for counseling for being disillusioned about their expectation about the behavior of spouses
