PROGRAM REPORT

Program name : Webinar on Extinction and Evolution.
Date of activity : 23/08/2022
Venue : Online.
Organized by : Department of Zoology.
Number of participants : 82

Objective of the program

Since species extinction is directly related to natural selection, it plays a significant role in the process of evolution. Environmental changes are frequently the cause of extinction. Some species have the adaptations necessary to live through environmental changes and procreate, whereas others do not. Occasionally, over many generations, a species will evolve the essential adaptations if the environment changes slowly enough. From the rise in antibiotic and pesticide resistance to the mostly human-caused increase in the extinction rate, humans have had a significant impact on evolution. Even the evolution of our own species is impacted by our influence on the process of evolution.

Topics Covered:

- Charles Darwin's theory.
- Necessity of extinction.
- Rise of new species.
- Change in habitats.
- Diversity.
- Environmental changes.
- Human disturbances.

PROGRAM REPORT

Program name	: Webinar on Genes and Cellular control.
Date of activity	: 24/08/2022
Venue	: Online.
Organized by	: Department of Zoology.
Number of participants	: 75

Objective of the program

The tightly regulated on/off switching of a gene's expression is known as gene regulation. It controls the effective use of cellular resources in single-celled organisms in response to their environment. Gene control determines the cell, its form and function, and ultimately the entire organism in multicellular creatures. When their environment changes, such as in reaction to signals from other cells, cells can alter the pattern of genes they express. The beginning of RNA transcription is typically the most significant point of control for most genes, even if all of the processes involved in the expression of a gene can theoretically be controlled.

Topics Covered:

- Human genetic makeup.
- Types of genes.
- Chromosomal abnormalities.
- Hereditary genetic diseases.
- Gene mutations.
- Gene therapy.

REPORT

Program name : Webinar on Diseases, immunity, and parasites.
Date of activity : 22/03/2021
Venue : Online.
Organized by : Dept. of Zoology.
Number of participants : 73.

Objective of the program

The term "parasites" can be used in two different ways: it can be used more broadly to refer to all pathogens, including viruses, or it can be used more narrowly to describe eukaryote animal pathogens, such as single-celled protozoans, multicellular worms, and arthropods. It is vital to provide a brief overview of the immune system in order to comprehend the connections between parasites and host immunity.

Topics Covered:

- Types of parasites.
- Diseases caused by parasites.
- Immune system's relationship with parasites.
- Symbiotic parasites.
- Parasite antigens.
- Parasite control.
- Preventing parasitic infections.

OUTCOME OF THE PROGRAM

The participants of the webinar will be able to understand how different parasites affect us and how we develop immunity against them. Participants gained knowledge of identifying different parasites, symbiotic parasites, tracking their source, stopping them from spreading and why parasites are also an important part of the ecosystem.

Total of 73 participants took part in the webinar on 22nd of March 2021.

PROGRAM REPORT

Program name : Webinar on Animal Behaviour.
Date of activity : 27/08/2022
Venue : Online.
Organized by : Department of Zoology.
Number of participants : 67

Objective of the program

Animal behaviour is the study of how animals interact with one another, move through their environment, learn about it, and possibly develop a cognitive grasp of it. Since early human existence depended on understanding animal behaviour, early humans probably first watched animals for practical reasons. Success needed thorough familiarity with an animal's routines, whether it be for hunting, maintaining domestic animals, or avoiding an approaching predator. Animal behaviour research continues to be very important today.

Topics Covered:

- Understanding and Adapting to the Environment.
- Locating Food.
- Defending their territory.
- Social hierarchy.
- Mating rituals.
- Adjusting to human encroachment.

RESEARCH IN LIFE SCIENCES

Scientific research is critical to help us navigate our ever-changing world. Without it, we would have to rely on people's opinions, our intuitions and luck. Systematic scientific research offers us an objective understanding because scientific knowledge is grounded in objective, tangible evidence.

PROGRAM REPORT

PROGRAM NAME: STUDENT EXCHANGE PROGRAM

DATE OF ACTIVITY: Academic year 2021-2022

ORGANIZED BY :- DEPARTMENT OF NUTRITION AND DIETETICS.

NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS:- 125

OBJECTIVES OF THE PROGRAM:

The students from Mumtaz college had come to attend the classes and the practical labs in the Anwarul Uloom College during the academic session 2021-2022.

The collaboration has given the faculty to address the students of other institute and become acquainted with them. The job was executed professionally to avoid any hindrance in the education of the students and to make them understand the concepts more efficiently and be able to apply the academically gained knowledge practically.

We appreciate the efforts of both the institutes to work with harmony for the benefits of the students of both institutes.

OBJECTIVES:

The goal of the students exchange was to increase the exposure of the students and to introduce them into new learning environment.

Report on Webinar Conducted by History Department

Title: One Day National Webinar on " Greater Mughals "

Preamble: One Day National Webinar on " Greater Mughals " organized by the History Department, Indira Priya Darshini Government Degree College for Women in collaboration with Department of History, Anwarul Uloom College on 11th January 2021 at 2-00 PM in order to impart knowledge to the students regarding Greater Mughals History.

Resource Person: Mr. K. Felix, Professor & Head of the Department, History, Anwarul Uloom College, Hyderabad was the speaker of the Topic.

Description about the Program: The Webinar started at 2 PM as per the Programmed schedule. The welcome speech was given by Mrs. Shanthaveni, Head of the Department, History, Indira Priya Darshini Government Degree College for Women to welcome the dignitaries and the participants. A brief introduction of the speaker was given then the speaker started his talk. The beginning of the Mughal Empire in India, its rise, reaching to the Zenith and the fall of Mughal Empire was very well explained in detail by Mr. K. Felix. Vote of Thanks was given by Mrs. Asma Parveen, Convener, Faculty of Department of History, Anwarul Uloom College, New Malapally, Hyderabad. Thanked the Management, Director, Principal and all the participants from our College and other Colleges also.

At the end there was a question and answer session and the speaker answered many queries raised by the participants.

Outcomes of the Webinar: Participants learnt that

- The Mughal Empire was the greatest of Muslim Empires in the early modern period
- The study was an extraordinary Indo – Islamic synthesis. It encourages students to consider fundamental questions of identity and diversity
- No other dynasty in the Islamic world has left behind more comprehensive historical documentation than the Mughals
- A rich array of written sources, Art, Buildings and Artifacts provides a plethora of learning resources

Feedback: The feedback report of the participants suggests that such Seminars should be conducted frequently. It was a great success. 90 participants participated. The Department of History thanked all the faculty who supported and helped to make this Webinar a great success. It thanked the Management of Anwarul Uloom College, New Mallepally, Hyderabad. Participants were given E – Certificates.

Future perspectives: The Department of History is looking forward to organize more Seminars and Webinars which will be more informative and beneficial to the students

Report: Submitted by Mrs. Asma Parveen, Faculty of History, Anwarul Uloom College, New Mallepally, Hyderabad.
