2.6.2. Attainment of Programme outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the Institution.

At Anwarul Uloom College, the attainment of program and course outcomes is evaluated through a systematic approach that aligns with Bloom's Taxonomy. This ensures that both cognitive and practical skills are effectively assessed. Program outcomes (POs) and course outcomes (COs) are designed to measure students' ability to apply, analyze, evaluate, and create knowledge in their respective disciplines. Using Bloom's Taxonomy as a framework, assessments progress from basic recall of facts (Knowledge) to higher-order thinking skills like synthesis (Create) and evaluation (Evaluate). Faculty members incorporate a variety of assessment methods, including exams, assignments, projects, and presentations, ensuring that students can demonstrate mastery at different cognitive levels. Regular feedback, along with self-assessment and peer evaluations, further supports this process. By aligning with Bloom's Taxonomy, the college ensures that students not only acquire foundational knowledge but also develop critical thinking, problem-solving, and analytical abilities that are essential for their academic and professional success. This approach helps track progress toward achieving both program and course outcomes effectively.
