

3.6.1

The institution demonstrates a strong and consistent commitment to community engagement and social responsibility through a rich spectrum of extension activities that integrate learning with service. These initiatives not only broaden the students' perspectives but also help them understand real-world issues while contributing meaningfully to society. To institutionalize this engagement, the college has established several dynamic student clubs, each dedicated to promoting awareness, compassion, and active citizenship. Among the prominent clubs functioning in the college are the Gender Club, Anti-Dowry Club, Human Rights Club, Constitution Club, Fine Arts and Dramatic Club, Social Welfare Club, Nutrition Club, Legal Awareness Club, Electoral Literacy Club, and the recently formed Road Safety Club. Each club organizes targeted programs, awareness campaigns, and interactive sessions to sensitize students on various social, legal, cultural, and ethical issues.

The NCC (National Cadet Corps) and NSS (National Service Scheme) units form the backbone of the institution's extension framework. They actively engage in community development programs, environmental conservation drives, and national integration camps. These units conduct rallies, awareness programs, and cleanliness campaigns that align with government missions such as Swachh Bharat Abhiyan, Polio Eradication, Beti Bachao Beti Padhao, Tree Plantation Drives, and Electoral Literacy Campaigns. The students' enthusiastic participation reflects their sense of duty and belonging toward the nation and its people. The Social Welfare Club plays a central role in the institution's outreach activities. It mobilizes resources through voluntary contributions, provides books and notebooks to needy students, pays school fees for underprivileged children, and extends support to local communities. The members regularly visit orphanages, old age homes, and shelters, distributing food, fruits, clothes, and essential supplies, while spending quality time with the residents, thereby promoting values of empathy and humanity.

The institution also collaborates closely with external organizations such as the Lions Club and Rotary Club, conducting a variety of health and awareness camps, including blood donation drives, organ donation awareness programs, medical check-ups, dental and nutrition camps, and sanitation awareness programs in underserved communities. These initiatives not only benefit the community but also enable students to understand the importance of civic participation and collective welfare.

A special highlight of the institution's social engagement is the Road Safety Club, which focuses on creating awareness about safe driving practices and traffic regulations among students and the local community. In collaboration with the Police and Transport Departments, the club conducts seminars, road safety awareness weeks, mock drills, and interactive sessions to emphasize responsible driving behavior and accident prevention. This initiative is crucial in shaping responsible young citizens who value life and safety on the road.

Cultural and literary clubs such as the Fine Arts and Dramatic Club organize street plays, dramas, mushairas, kavi sammelans, and awareness skits on pressing social issues, blending creativity with education. These activities act as powerful tools to communicate social messages effectively to the larger community.

Through these multifaceted efforts, the institution has successfully built a vibrant ecosystem of social learning and community engagement. The unwavering support of the management, combined with the dedication of students and faculty, ensures that these extension activities not only enhance social awareness but also shape students into socially responsible, empathetic, and proactive citizens who contribute positively to the nation's progress.
